Dear Dr. Michal Krobicki,

The 2021 Annual Meeting of the China National Committee for IGCP was successfully convened on November 13-14, 2021. The hybrid event was held with a limited in-person audience paired with a virtual meeting due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The meeting attracted a large number of geoscientists and students on the virtual meeting platform, with the accumulated number of audience reaching 3,734 and a total of 11,600 clicks.

The meeting was hosted by the China National Committee for IGCP and greatly supported by the IGCP Secretariat at the UNESCO headquarters. Academicians and experts both from home and abroad were invited to deliver keynote talks on Deep-time Digital Earth (DDE) program, UN Sustainable Development Goals and surface-Earth system, lunar geological evolution, and Qinghai-Tibetan Plateau tectonics. Both Chinese and international IGCP leaders were invited to present their latest research results on Earth resources, global change, geohazards, hydrogeology and geodynamic. UNESCO Category II Centers - International Research Center on Karst Geology and International Center on Global-Scale Geochemistry reported their annual work during the meeting. The meeting has won widespread acclaim due to its high-level academic exchanges and a wide range of research fields.

China National Committee for IGCP would like to sincerely thank you for sharing the research results of IGCP 710: Western Tethys meets Eastern Tethys. Your great support to the meeting is highly appreciated. We look forward to fruitful exchanges with you under the framework of IGCP in the future.
